

Men, do you relate to any of the following:

- Dating apps make you want to rip out your fingernails. ●
- You've been on a date and just completely blank on what to say. ●
- You love making people laugh while getting to be a little ridiculous. ●
- You love doing things for the plot, you embrace positive chaos, and you're always down for a good time.. ●

Well, here's your chance to go on a date and not have to say (or pay) for...

ANYTHING!

Love Isn't Blind

is a hilarious live dating comedy show where 3-4 men vie for the heart of one lucky bachelorette.

The catch? You're not allowed to speak.

You'll compete in a series of laugh-out-loud, non-verbal games and activities that'll show off your personality (without saying a word).

After each round, the bachelorette will eliminate one contestant until only one remains. But just because you get "eliminated", it doesn't mean you'll go home empty handed.

Not only will you be gifted a consolation prize, you are going to be pimped out to the audience the entire time. The audience can slide into your DMs or a cutie in the 3rd row could approach you as you sit down. (This has actually happened.)

Still not convinced this could provide a once in a lifetime experience? Here's what previous bachelors have said:

"Being on 'Love Isn't Blind' was such a fun and unique experience as a way to approach dating! Not being allowed to talk took a lot of pressure off of me and allowed me to just have fun."

My DMs are riddled!!! ALLISON!!!

lol - great show though. Thanks very much. If ever you need another bachelor, let me know 😂

As a contestant, you will be taken care of every step of the way.
(Seriously, the host Allison is the best and wants you to have a great time.)

[This whole document was written by a previous bachelor. Sup guys?]

Yes this is a comedy show, but it is NOT a roast. It is also incredibly courageous to put yourself out there in front of a live audience and women LOVE courageous men.
